

Successful Book Drive Benefits the Greenville Mental Health Center!

By

Jayne Crisp, Community Liaison GMHC

2nd and Charles, a national book store owned by Books a Million, is holding a month-long book drive to benefit the programs of the Greenville Mental Health Center. During the months of November and December, customers can purchase items to donate to the Center programs.

Located at 2465 Laurens Road, Greenville, 2nd and Charles is just beginning its first week of sales for the Center. The drive will conclude December 17. The book store has already donated hundreds of popular children's books, games, journals, colored pencils, puzzles and other creative resources to the Center for the Child and Adolescent programs at the Center as a result of its successful August book drive.

The books and resources will assist our clinical teams in meeting the treatment goals of our young adults, teens and children here at the Center and in our school-based programs. We deeply appreciate the efforts of manager, Heather Stroud, and the other amazing staff and customers of 2nd and Charles who are continuing to make these great resources possible!

Hats off to 2nd and Charles for enthusiastically hosting a book drive for the Greenville Mental Health Center, for their generosity to our Center, and their advocacy for mental health wellness!
